

IOM WIN TRADITIONAL SINGING COMPETITION AT PAN CELTIC FESTIVAL

Adhene, a duo consisting of Paul Cringle and Margaid Bird, won the competition for an original song in Gaelic at the recent Pan Celtic Festival held in Carlow. Paul wrote the beautiful tune 'Auldyn River', which was sung in Manx by Margaid and accompanied by Paul on guitar. The lyrics were written by Wendy Hurst and translated into Manx by Fiona McArdle.

The competition was held in the George Bernard Shaw Theatre, where they also performed at the Festival launch and concert. Unfortunately, due to the problems with the Manannan sailings, Wendy missed both the launch and the competition but arrived in time to see the group Glashtyn (which included her daughter Nicky Kinley) take second place in the International Song contest with their lively performance of 'Pynt dy Lhune'!

Paul's tune continues to spread throughout the traditional music scene – a member of the famous Sands Family asked for a copy of the music and lyrics (in English) so that it can be taught to pupils in a Northern Irish music school! The tune, played by Paul, can be heard on: www.youtube.com/watch?v=UW-qNdpLGyS

45th Pan-Celtic Festival, Carlow

Memories can be short, but some of the performers at this year's Pan-Celtic will remember for some time the difficulties faced getting to, and leaving, Ireland this year because of the problems with the IoMSPCo. vessel Mannanan. In the end everyone and their instruments got there – and got home!

The opening night was held in the modern VISUAL Arts Centre, in the large George Bernard Shaw Theatre, and was thronged with locals and visitors alike who had come to get a taster of this year's Festival. One of the acts which caught the public's attention was the close harmony singing and lovely guitar accompaniment of Adhene, Paul Cringle and Margaid Bird, and Meehene, Fiona McArdle, who joined them for that event.

Adhene also performed in the first of the Inter-Celtic competitions, Traditional Solo Singing, the following evening. The main competition involves singing two traditional songs in the language of the country, one of which must be unaccompanied, but another competition runs alongside where one of the two songs is a new composition in traditional style, which is the competition deservedly won by Adhene with 'Awin Auldyn' / 'Auldyn River'. The smaller Celtic countries often enter in this competition which helps to boost the available material for singing in their language. This has worked well for the Isle of Man which has produced several winning songs in this category over the past few years.

The busiest day in the Festival for the Isle of Man was the Thursday which began at lunchtime in great style in O'Loughlin's pub which hosted the Manx 'Kiaull as Cooish', a mix of language, with song and great music from Glashtin and MeLir. Needless to say, the pub was very pleased with the packed house and couldn't wait for the next Manx 'gig' scheduled for the Friday evening. Carlow is noted for welcoming musicians into the town and had a big fringe Festival this year.

The Inter-Celtic New Song competition was the star event of the evening with the top prize deservedly going to the young Welsh group Cordia from Angelsey, with our great band Glashtin coming a close second with 'Pynt dy Lhune' / 'A Pint of Beer' which had the audience tapping their feet to the lively rhythm (there wasn't room to dance!) – definitely the audience favourite.

Those from the Isle of Man, Cornwall and Brittany thought that their joint evening of entertainment from all three areas which followed on from the main competition was one of the best of the week, a comment echoed by many in the audience who enjoyed a great variety of music, song and dance from all the performers.

The Manx gig at O'Loughlin's on the Friday evening fulfilled its promise with a cracking night of music from MeLir and Glashtin in a venue filled with a happy, foot tapping audience – again, there was no room to dance! Earlier in the evening though, our dancer John Kilgallon came third with his solo performance against tough competition from Wales and Cornwall.

It was a high profile presence for the Island at the Festival this year and thanks go to all who took part – some of whom had to leave a bit earlier than originally planned.

SAVE UP TO 40% BY BUYING TICKETS
ONLINE TODAY!

The Milntown Estate is set to not only welcome a gaggle of bicycle-lovers this spring, but will also provide a spectacular backdrop to what is set to become a real highlight in the Manx entertainment calendar.

The two-day festival at Milntown Estate on Saturday 14th and Sunday 15th May is the centrepiece of Isle of Man Cyclefest presented by Isle of Man Bank. The festival boasts a strong line up of local musicians, along with artisan food and drink from the Island's best local producers, awe-inspiring stunts and plenty of fun for all the family.

The Cyclefest Main Stage will play host to the festival's headline acts, with a high quality line up confirmed and a strong representation of traditional Manx music running throughout the two days. Bringing the entire Festival to a fitting close on the Sunday are two Celtic super groups that are inextricably linked to the island that inspires their sound. In what is one of only a handful of appearances this spring, Isle of Man Cyclefest is delighted to play host to 'double header headliners' Barrule and Mec Lir.

Croan Yn Tead Ireland Trip 2016

"Croan Yn Tead" is Manx Gaelic for 'The String Tree', or 'Tree of Strings', in reference to the harp, and is the collective name of a group of young musicians from the Isle of Mann ranging in age from 12 – 16. The group was formed to undertake a cultural exchange trip to Ireland at the end of March and was organised by flute player Peddyr Cubberley of Manx band Mactullagh Vannin, and Irish harper and teacher Fiana Ní Chonaill of Co. Limerick, Ireland. The trip was instigated following a visit to the Island by Fiana in September 2015 at the invitation of Mactullagh Vannin. The initiative behind the trip was to give some of our young Manx musicians an opportunity to hone their skills through music performance, and to help develop their musicianship and creative skills whilst showcasing Manx traditional music to audiences in Ireland. In addition to that, many friendships were made and great time was had by all!

BARRULE ON TOUR IN GERMANY AND
USA THIS SUMMER:

WWW.BARRULETRIO.COM/GIGS/

MANX MUSIC IN OHIO Carol Walker recently gave a Manx music workshop for mountain dulcimer in Cincinnati, Ohio. They worked together for about 90 minutes, during which time they learned about a dozen arrangements from Carol's two Tailless Tunes dulcimer books, including "Ellan Vannin," "Gyn Ennym," "Arrane y Chlean," "Arrane Oie Vie," as well as Sharon Christian's tune, "Arrane Cadlee." During the evening concert Carol performed several other Manx titles for the attendees. Everyone LOVED the Manx tunes!!

Charity CD Free Spirit released by Anthony Cubbon

Hospice has been touched by the fundraising efforts for its charity by local composer and pianist Anthony Cubbon.

Anthony, from Castletown, has had personal connections with Hospice through the sad death of his wife, Marsha, aged 39 years old.

He has a successful career producing and marketing music and felt it was the right way of supporting the charity by doing what he knows best. He also feels strongly that music can help meditation and relaxation.

This beautiful CD is full of wonderful flowing piano melodies which were composed and produced by him. He has previously sold around 30,000 albums.

Anthony added: "I haven't had any formal training in music, though feel it is in my blood as my family have long associations with music on the island".

"I often look to the Manx landscape for inspiration for my music and am a keen walker and naturalist."

The Cubbon family of Castletown started the Castletown Silver band well over a hundred years ago.

This wonderful CD Free Spirit is available from Hospice, Shakti Man in Ramsey, Chree Brae in Castletown, Studio 42 in Port St Mary and Celtic Gold in Peel. Each CD is £10 with all profits going to the charity less a minimum production cost.

Head of Income Generation, Mary Doyle said: "I would like to thank Anthony for taking the time to pull this CD together. I have listened to the CD, it is beautiful and for him and his family to think about ways of helping us to help others by generating income is touching and very much appreciated."

Nominations invited for North American Manx Awards

The endeavours and achievements of young people will again be celebrated through the North American Manx Awards.

Department of Education and Children is inviting nominations for the awards, presented annually by the North American Manx Association.

The awards mainly recognise the achievements of under-18s. However, two awards are open to older recipients, too.

The categories are:

- Manx music
 - Art and crafts that portray any aspect of Manx life or culture
 - Manx language
 - Outstanding contribution to Manx culture
- (a) By a student under 18
(b) By a student over 18
(c) By a group of under 25s
- Manx community
- (a) Outstanding contribution to the community in general – eg, for work with voluntary organisations or with the disabled/elderly
(b) Overcoming disability to contribute to the community.

Nomination forms can be downloaded from: www.gov.im/media/1350806/north-american-manx-awards-entry-form-2016.pdf or obtained by ringing Frances Hampton on 01624 693830.

Closing date: Friday 20 May 2016

The awards – specially minted medals – will be presented at the Barrool Suite in the Tynwald building on Friday 1st July.

Tim Crookall MLC, Minister for Education and Children, said: 'These awards were generously instigated by the North American Manx Association to commemorate the millennium of Tynwald in 1979 and have become a traditional high point in the education calendar.

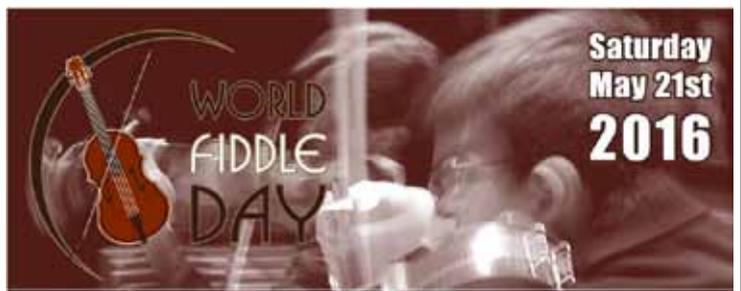

'They reward young people with talent and who give time to the community, including those who overcome considerable challenges to do so.'

~ WORLD FIDDLE DAY ~

In previous years, Manx musicians have celebrated WFD with a fiddle flash mob in the Strand Shopping Centre playing Car y Phoosee & Peter O'Tavy; a new tune competition and a photo collage of Manx fiddlers! Any ideas for this year?!

From the organisers: 2016 World Fiddle Day will not be led by a Patron as has been the case in the past years. This year will acknowledge and pay respect to the memory of Kheireddine (Didine) Sabhi, a 29 year old Algerian virtuoso violinist and composer who was an active member of the Sorbonne's Traditional Music Ensemble where he studied. Didine was a victim of the Paris massacres as he walked home.

Pride of Mann nomination

Culture Vannin's Manx music development officer Dr Chloë Woolley has been recognised for her dedication and commitment to keeping Manx music and dance alive.

Chloe has been nominated in the Culture and Arts Champion category of the Isle of Man Newspapers' Pride in Mann Awards.

MONA DOUGLAS AND “THE SALMON LEAP”

By Stephen Miller, Vienna 2016

In Kiaull Manninagh Jiu (January 2016) “Kelly the Blackguard,” whose name is associated through Mona Douglas with the Salmon Leap, was shown to be James Kelly, who, in Manx parlance went “on the roads” or “was going on the houses,” in other words, going from farm to farm and trading odd-jobs for a bed overnight and a meal. Here is the description of the dance from the notebook now in the MNHL in which Douglas records her collecting. A typescript amongst her papers provides further detail about the dance (the description here has not been reproduced).

The Salmon Leap.

I have heard of this dance from several people, but can never get a full description or demonstration of it. Seems to be a kind of jig or hornpipe, & takes its name from the fact that in one figure the dancer has to lie flat on his back & leap into an upright position, on his feet, in one movement. What else is done, nobody seems to know. Probably the difficulty of getting a demonstration is owing to the difficulty of this figure.

W.W.G. [ie, Walter William Gill] says that a man in Glen Rushen, called Kelly the Blackguard can dance the Salmon Leap, but I have never been able to meet him as he is “on the roads” & only lives for short periods in a ruined house up the Glen. He has always been away when I have been in the district. W.W.G. thinks the Leap a special figure which could be used in any jig for elaboration, & not a complete dance in itself; also that it was practised in Scandinavia by boys, but there was actually done in the sea or a river as an imitation of the leaping of actual salmon. This may explain the lack of details about it, but on the other hand I have certainly heard it spoken of as a dance, not a figure only.

Lheim y Braddan

(The Salmon Leap)

This dance has been pieced together from descriptions of the various parts of it given by a number of people, with some demonstration. The most complete outline was given by Captain Thomas Craine of the Sarah Blanche, formerly skipper of a Peel fishing boat and a sailor on the Packet Company’s ships, and he was said it was generally thought of as a fisherman’s dance, but parts of it have been described and demonstrated by Northside crofters like William Caine of Jurby curragh, and the Leap itself was shown to me in the 1920’s by a man in Patrick known as Kelly the Blackguard. Kelly the fisherman of Baldrine, Lonan also described parts of it, including the customs worn, and said it had once been part of the Mollag Band’s dance, for which the men also wore white long sleeveless coats. I have not seen any special steps used in the bits demonstrated [...]

THE SOUND OF MUSIC – IN MANN

A Long Standing Tradition

THE Island through its Music 'Guild' which began in 1892 has long had the reputation of maintaining a high standard of music and if we look through the records of earlier times it is evident that the Manx were a musical people with their own ballads and carvals (carols) and folk tunes some of which have been rescued from oblivion by the patient work of people like Dr. John Clague and Miss M. L. Wood.

Miss Wood was regarded as the "Mother of Music" in the Island - it was mainly through her efforts that the Music Guild was started and she spent the whole of her life here teaching choirs and solo singers, playing Church organs, and reviving musical traditions.

In January 1896, she gave a paper before the Tonic Sol Fa Convention entitled "Music Past and Present in the Isle of Man."

She pointed out that it was on record by Chaloner that in the middle of the 17th century there was scarcely a family on the Island who had not a violin player in their midst.

David Craine in 'Manannan's Isle' said that violins and viols were the only musical instruments mentioned in those early times. The fiddlers who played at gatherings in the Island generally went in pairs and often travelled long distances to fulfil engagements.

Trebitsch in the Island with the phonograph

(7 September 1907 Isle of Man Times) - sent in by Stephen Miller

Dr. Adolf Trebitsch, of Vienna, has been deputed by the Austrian Imperial Academy of Sciences to proceed to Scotland, Ireland, Wales, and Man to study the Celtic languages, and make comparisons. The doctor, who is a well-known savant, arrived in Douglas yesterday (Friday). He is anxious to take phonographic records in the Manx, and those of our readers who would like to contribute should communicate with Mr W. Cubbon, "Times" Office Branch, Victoria-street, who would make the necessary arrangements.

Celtic festival delegates

DELEGATES, from Ireland, Cornwall, Brittany, Scotland, Wales, and the Isle of Man will be attending the six-day Celtic Congress from Easter Monday, April 16, to 21.

It is being held in Douglas, and the Congress Centre will be the Metropole Hotel on Queen's Promenade. Speakers and artists from the six Celtic "countries" who will be a feature of the gathering, will include Miss Ann Harrison, of the Manx Museum. It will be her turn on the Wednesday morning when she will talk to the delegates on "Mann". At night, there is to be a tour of the Manx Museum.

The conference starts on Monday, April 16. After dinner there will be the official opening, with greetings from all the Celtic countries, and a reception given by the Government's Millennium Committee.

During their stay, delegates will have a tour of the Legislative Buildings and Government Offices in Douglas; a trip on the Manx Electric Railway and Steam Railway; and excursions to Peel Castle, Glen Maye, Tynwald Hill.

There is to be a Manx Gaelic service at St Thomas' Church, Douglas, on the Thursday night. The congress concludes with an "international concert" at the College of Further Education, Douglas.

TRANSCRIPTION OF THE MONTH

see www.manxmusic.com for more printable pieces of Manx music

There are many old customs associated with May Day (Laa Boaldyn) in the Isle of Man, and several traditional songs and tunes. This month's transcription 'Moghrey Laa Boaldyn' (May Day Morning) is an air in the dorian mode, and it was arranged a few years ago for a school folk group.

Moghrey Laa Boaldyn

Manx trad.
arr. C. Woolley

The main melody is written in treble clef, 4/4 time, with a key signature of one sharp (F#). The melody consists of four staves of music. Above the notes, guitar chords are indicated: Em, D, Bm, C, D, Em, Em, D, A, Bm, A, G, Em, D, Bm, C, D, Em.

Counter Melody 1

Counter Melody 1 is written in treble clef, 4/4 time, with a key signature of one sharp (F#). It consists of four staves of music, providing a rhythmic accompaniment to the main melody.

Counter Melody 2

Counter Melody 2 is written in treble clef, 4/4 time, with a key signature of one sharp (F#). It consists of three staves of music, providing a second rhythmic accompaniment.
